As a rule the victim of this disease has a skin rash reddish in color. It first appears on the face hands and neck. There are diges the disturbances and a persistent diarrhea that weakens the sufferer. At first the disease is often confused with some pulper influences.

At first the disease is often con-fused with some minor inflamma-tion of the skin. As it progresses the skin peets and sheds in large quantities. The victim now notices increased digestive disturbances. Nervous symptoms appear and some ilmestice are distressing and even slamping.

WHY PAVE STREETS WITH CONCRETE?

here's why -

- Every street demands a gritty, non-skid surface for the protection of motorists and pedestrians.
- At night you need a pavement with high visibility.
- Safety also calls for a pavement that is free from chuck holes, ruts and bumps...and stays that way with minimum maintenance.
- You want a pavement that drains quickly : ; ; that is easily cleaned and stays clean . . . no depressions to catch dirt.
- You want a pavement that makes the whole neighborhood look modern, prosperous, attractive.

Concrete::: and only concrete::: completely meets all of these specifications.

Within the Law.

Abuses of the parole system "within the law" are what Ohio must worry about, if Former Warden Preston E. Thomas learned anything about penology in more than two decades of experience in the state prison.

selves, the former warden places stress on politics and money. His observations grow out of an investigation of the Onio parole board ordered by the attorney general. Prisoners with financial backing obtain lawyers. Lawyers make as good a case as possible for their clients with the politicians. The politicians use influence with governors and members of the parole board. All this is "within the law." Therefore, concludes Mr. Thomas, the way to improve the parole system is to take it out of polities.

Overnight the whole situation has been Overlight the whole situation has been accelerated somewhat by the sudden death of Senator Robleson. A movement to adjourn congress and let the court oill go unacted upon till the regular January seesion is rapidly growing. Reentinent against the prolonged summer aession has been amouldering for some time, but now it has broken out with fresh irritations.

veit's instatence on the court bill substitute is school throughout the national capital. The residing is rather general that the sacrifice of Senator Robinson's life was wholly unnecessity. President Itoosevelt has never explained why he is in such a hurry to get the court bill through, particularly when a few months more or less of summer heat could easily have been dispensed with and an adjournment taken either to Saptember or January without loss to the administration. Many people have jumped to the conclusion that the death of Senator Robinson will mean the withdrawal of the tourt bill by the President. Mr. Roosevelt, on the other hand, has a peculiar stubbornness and pride of position which makes it difficult for him to retreat. He once said in a public address that, if he were found to be in error, he would be the first to acknowledge it, but many observer now are saying that when he is in error he is the list to acknowledge it. Chief handleap encountered by the numerous hoats and airplance which comprised the party searching for the famous aviatis was the difficulty of locating such a comparatively tiny object as a floating plane in the vast Parillo. Unless visibility is excellent and the overn fairly calm, a floating plane is undistinguishable at a distance much more than one-guarter to one-half nille.

Considering, then how closely a searching party must come to the location of the failen plane to discover it, and how limited is the time before a ship goes under, it is obvious that any method which will make such rescue speedler and surer would be a boon to transoceanic flying.

In was at a recent sension of the French Academy of Sciences that George Claude, inventor of the new side discussed as in the control of the present of the new side discussed as inventor.

Claude in his experiments.

First test of Claude's theory was made last January when the French submarine Thetis released a packet of 22 pounds of acid fluoracein mixed with powdered cork off the French coast. Creating a bright green blot on the surface more than 600 feet in diameter, the solution formed a blotch visible from an airplane at a distance of nearly two and one-half nilles. This remained for better than three hours.

Claude next tackled the problem of how to make the blotch last longer. Since fluoreccin loses its brilliant bue after about three hours' exposure to similght and mix-ture with water, he decided some method of renewing the mixture was necessary. How It Was Done.

This he accomplished by packing his acid solution in tiny perforated cans which were put into four perforated boxes supported by a line tied to cork floats. The water was thus allowed to erep through the perforations but the action was slowed up so as not to disalpate the strength of the fluorscein too quickly.

In the senate today, out of 96 members, there are at least 40 deeply opposed to the judiciary bill. There are no more than 40 who have declared themselves in favor of it. "Where'd you get hold of him bin the first place?" Zeke Farley turned to Kay, who breach brest! for this question she had been dreading. In the midst of her confused horror at this terrible news, one thing was clear—mothing would make her give the real version of her meeting with Ted.

"Why, I wanted to set hold of some more timberland," she began, "and it seemed a good idea to get some one to go over it, so Imperiance of the sheriff out her short. "What I want to know is, how did you come to choose Gaynor! Why not some one from around here?"

"Yes, yes. Never mind all that!" the sheriff out her short. "What I want to know is, how did you come to choose Gaynor! Why not some one from around here?"

"I don't know just why." Kay decided the only line to take was a helbles, illogical feminine one. "I just thought I'd try him out, and then, if I liked him, he could join the outfit. You thought he was a an arrest way of the manual same more."

"Youll let me know the minute you hear anything, won't you." A arrest way of the manual same more."

"Youll let me know the minute you hear anything, won't you."

She appealed to Seth, with an attempt to defeat the sheriff's direct questions by Irrelevance.

"Sure I did," Seth answered. "He seemed like an At hand to me. But I've been kind of wondering about him, when he didn't turn up when he said he would."

His Threat To Same

His Threat To Scrap.
"How long has this man been dead?" Kay tried another tack to turn the line of the inquiry.
"About four or live days, a should judge." Zeke Farley came back to Seth's remark, "What's back to Seth's remark, "What's that about his heing expected out the tumbled than about his heing expected.

thoughts and troubles.

Two days before Ted had appeared. Marion's father had brought her to this hut, stacked it with provisions to last several weeks, and told her that if she valued her life and his, she must waft there, in hiding, until he came back.

His wild manner, coming as it did after a mental breakdown, had terrifled her into acquiescing. She was omittely in the dark about his reason for this move, but she had suspicions that she hardly dared voice to herself. Deciding it was best to humor him, she had issaid to herself. Deciding it was and promised to carry them out until dawn this morning that the fever had broken, and she had felt any assurance that the battle was won.

From Ted's delirious mutterings,

From Ted's delirious mutterings, Marion had been able to piece togeiher something of his story. In this close association with a perfect stranger, she had come to be convinced that her first appraisal of him had been right, and that she could wait with confidence until he recovered sufficiently to tell the rest of his story.

As she stood there in the sunshine, she fet her strength gradually returning. She decided that, as soon as Ted should be atrong enough to leave, she would go in search of her father, if he was not back traited of the three weeks he had stipulated. She would give him the full time he had asked for, but after that she could no longer stand this loaction.

Max Macon recorded his 15th victory of the season as the Bitds won the twillight half of the entertainment, 3 to 3. The Columor the Cardinals. The Bucs, who fell adout of another Carl Hubbell extravaganza yeaterday, by 4-2, are struggling along as best they can without the services of Arky Vaughan, the peppery shortstop who usually can be counted on to bli well at the Polo grounds.

The Cardinals, who will follow Ple Traynor's even into the Terrymen's atronghold Saturday for a flourgame week-end series, also are having their troubles A pitching and that was none too big to start with has been decimated further by Jim Winford's operation and Dizzy Dean's sore toe, which will keep him on the shelf throughout the Giant series.

The latest news from the Terry camp hardly can act as encouragement to the Cubs. On top of lithbell's four-hit performance yesterday came the announcement that slugging Hank Leiber, hors do combant stines his average heading to the sample heading his his little of the sample heading his his little of the little of
